3. References.

a. AR 672-20 INCENTIVE AWARDS.

b. Engineer Regulation 672-1-18, “Decorations, Awards, and Honors, Incentive Awards”, dated 1 March 1995. This regulation provides guidance for the implementation of the incentive awards program.

c. Engineer Pamphlet 1130-2-434 (FS), Hiram M. Chittenden Award Fact Sheet, dated 30 September 1993.

d. Engineer Regulation 1130-2-500, “Project Operations”, Change 2, dated 30 September 2003, Chapter 17, Chief of Engineers Annual Natural Resources Management Awards.

4. General.

a. The subject awards were established under the general provisions of AR 672-20. The “Project of the Year” award provides significant recognition for team achievements in efficiency in the use of financial and personnel resources, success in interagency programs, initiative in public involvement, and effectiveness in visitor safety. Exceptional individual achievement is given recognition for efforts in recreation management, natural resources stewardship, environmental compliance management, and interpretation.

b. Nomination Procedures.

(1) District commanders may submit nominations for the subject awards to their respective division commander not later than 8 March 2013.

(2) Division commanders may appoint a committee or use other methods to review district nominations and select a single nomination for each award to represent the entire division. Division commanders will complete all necessary actions and forward their nominations along with supporting documentation by e-mail as designated in paragraph 8 below by COB 12 April 2013.

(3) Nominations received will be evaluated by a committee and approved by the Director of Civil Works. The Director will present recommendations to the Chief of Engineers for review and approval.

SUBJECT: Nominations for the Chief of Engineers Annual Natural Resources Management Awards – “Project of the Year”, “Recreation Employee of the Year”, “Stewardship Employee of the Year”, “Environmental Compliance Employee of the Year”, and “Hiram M. Chittenden Award for Interpretive Excellence”.

(4) Nominations which have been submitted for previous consideration, but were not selected, may be resubmitted provided supporting information reflects current conditions and eligibility is maintained for those accomplishments made in the preceding calendar year (2012).

5. Eligibility:

a. The Natural Resources Management “Project of the Year”. All Corps administered land and water projects that have a significant natural resources management program are eligible to receive this award provided they meet the provisions of this memorandum. This includes projects that are partially outgranted to other agencies.

b. The Natural Resources Management “Recreation Employee of the Year”, “Stewardship Employee of the Year”, and “Environmental Compliance Employee of the Year”. All individuals employed by the Corps, in the Natural Resources Management program, including division, district, and field projects, are eligible to receive these awards.

c. The Natural Resources Management “Hiram M. Chittenden Award for Interpretive Excellence”. All individuals employed by the Corps who contribute to interpretation and/or environmental education are eligible for this award. An “interpreter” may be a park ranger, park manager, engineer, safety officer, public affairs officer, wildlife biologist, technician, forester, human resources specialist, or others who “interpret” the special resource theme for the Corps. MSC nominations will be considered as “regional winners,” and may be announced and recognized during the annual National Association for Interpreters award ceremony.

d. The consolidation of two or more individuals into a single nomination for the “individual employee” awards is not permitted. The consolidation of two or more projects into a single nomination for the “Project of the Year” award is not permitted.

e. All nomination packages will reflect only those accomplishments made in the preceding calendar year (2012).

6. Nominating Criteria:

a. Evaluation Criteria. Nominations will be evaluated on the basis of content, which should concisely describe specific accomplishments within each required category of criteria as listed. The specific evaluation criteria for the “Project of the Year” and each of the individual employee awards are enclosed.

The Natural Resources Management "Project of the Year" award provides recognition of exceptional project management with emphasis on the natural resources, recreation, and environmental compliance management programs

The Chief of Engineers may recognize a project based on the content of a nomination, which concisely describes specific accomplishments within each category below, as they relate to all elements of the Natural Resources Management Program. The evaluation will focus on management efforts that have contributed to greater efficiency and effectiveness in use of personnel and funds, while sustaining or improving good customer service and stewardship of project resources. The project's accomplishments, during the previous calendar year, must be highlighted and arranged under the following criteria:

(1) Management Efficiency. Management efforts, which maintain or enhance project facilities and programs while contributing to greater manpower efficiency, energy reduction, philosophy of efficient use of funding, manpower, energy and other resources. Evaluation will be based more upon intensity of effort, innovation and demonstrated success, rather than overall program size or numbers of elements.

(2) Public Involvement. Quality and quantity of public involvement in the project area and level of public perception, understanding, and support of the Corps as influenced by the project and its staff should be addressed. Provide information, which demonstrates management's responsiveness to public concerns. Explain how the level of public perception and understanding has influenced management decision. Include a description of Corps actions, which have promoted public involvement.

(3) Public Safety. Achievement in public safety education and awareness programs with special emphasis on water safety should be outlined. Describe staff efforts in public safety activities. Provide a measure of program effectiveness in reducing accidents and personal injuries to the public and to Corps employees.

(4) Management Effectiveness. Describe specific practices and programs in effect which enhance or contribute to the Corps recreation, stewardship, environmental, interpretation, and/or other business program missions. Describe efforts that support the PMBP business process and the success of these practices and programs.
